Espionage Case To Court Jury

Conviction of Judith Coplon Could Mean Prison And Heavy Fines

By Karl R. Bauman

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—The Judith Coplon espionage case went to a federal jury today at 8:55 a. m. CST.

The jury retired to decide the fate of the former Justice Department worker after listening to instructions by Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves on points of law.

The case took for 25 minutes, the judge's instructions for the jury consideration. Before the judge began speaking, defense attorneys Archibald Palmer demanded that he declare a mistrial.

Palmer's move was based in part on the closing argument of the government by John M. Kelly, Jr., who said that Miss Coplon was a spy in Russia's behalf.

Palmer argued that Kelly's argument was based on a person and not on facts.

Palmer then asked the jury to return a verdict of "not guilty."

The second count, which charged a conspiracy to remove documents from the government, was also considered.

The maximum penalty for the first count is 30 years and $50,000.

The maximum penalty for the second count is 10 years and $25,000.

Chinese Orphan Arrives

Ann, six-year old Chinese orphan, arrives at Fairchild, Calif. in the arms of New York Daily News reporter Jim Martin. With them is Flight Nurse Lieutenant Elliot Madden, who accompanied the child on the flight from Formosa. The child is being brought to the United States in behalf of Frank Churchill, G. I. who found the infant badly wounded in China during the war and nursed her back to health. Churchill wants to adopt the child. A hurried trip was made to beat an immigration deadline. Woman Dies Telephoning To Her Mother

Mother of Eight Children Had Gone To Neighbor's Home

Mrs. Edith Kellner, 45-year-old wife of Louis Kellner, died today at her home in St. Louis, Mo., after a heart attack while telephoning her mother.

The death was due to a heart condition, the coroner's office said. Mrs. Kellner was born in St. Louis, Mo., and had been married to Mr. Kellner for 15 years.

She was telephoning her mother, Mrs. Charles Kellner, who lives at 111 North Third St., St. Louis, Mo., at the time of her death.

AFL Moves To Have Senate Kill Labor Bill

Means Abandoning Drive For This Session

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—The AFL moved today that the Senate kill the administration labor bill now introduced to Congress by the Labor-Management Education Act.

The move meant abandoning the drive by organized labor and union Democrats to repeal the T-1 law.

AFL President William Green, the Democratic leader, said the action of the Senate in rejecting the bill would be a "major step" in the fight to repeal the T-1 law.

House Speaker Given Power To Hold Bills

Third Time in Week House Asked to Take Bill from Hamlin

JEFFERSON CITY, June 29 (AP)—On a party on 50 to 82 vote today the Missouri House gave its speaker the unprecedented power to hold bills in his desk as long as he wishes.

The Democratic majority upheld the action of Speaker Roy Hamlin (D) of Marion county in holding a senate passed bill for the speaker without referring it to committee.

It was the third time in a week that Rep. Joe H. Miller (D) of Carroll county had asked the House to take the bill away from the speaker.

The bill, which was passed by the Senate on June 24, was the same bill that the speaker had delayed action on Miller's request.

Today Hamlin turned the speaker's chair over to Rep. Tom A. Shockey (D) of P. H. county in his own defense.

He told the House that the measure set House policy on revision work even before the revision bills had been considered by the House.

"This bill represents a variety of bills," he said, "and it is in the interest of the House to have it passed by the House."

He said he believed he was "acting in the interest of the House" by holding the bill.

Gets Hole-In-One Despite 100

PORTCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Jesse H. Jacobson, 20, failed to break 100 but he did get a hole-in-one. Playing the Green Valley course his tee shot went into the cup on the 131 yard third hole. He used a No. 8 iron, switching from a No. 7 on the advice of another player. His 18-hole score was 100.

Optimists Give Boys Attention

Guest Speaker in A Talk Before Club On Delinquency

The Optimist club noon luncheon was called to order Wednesday by Frank Mehl, president. The following guests were introduced: Wm. F. Brown, prosecuting attorney; Sheriff John F. Taylor; Deputy Sheriffs, Clark Woolery and E. J. Thomas; Elmer Stierling; George Newman; D. W. Heckert and Claude Boyd. Also present were the following Business and Professional Club Women: Mrs. Eva Evans, Mrs. Frank Wagner, Mrs. John Welsh, Mrs. Hazel Palmer and Mrs. A. R. Rush.

Captain A. J. Rush of the Salvation Army is introducing, Captain Joseph H. Lindquist of the Salvation Army in Kansas City, called attention to the fact that the Sedalia Optimist club, through its boys' leader, James Reed had made great strides for the benefit of the boys in the city of Sedalia. Turning his attention to the speaker, Capt. Rush remarked that the speaker is an ex-army chaplain, has his A1 and Master's degrees from Wayne University, that he got his first assignment to Sedalia in his early days with the Salvation Army that he is now connected with the Juvenile Court in Kansas City in dealing with juvenile delinquents.

Delinquency Theories
 Capt. Lindquist, in his talk before the club, stated that there were a number of theories regarding delinquency, and causes of delinquency. Among some of the theories he had is one that the cause is bad housing. Housing is a contributing cause, but not a sole cause, and that in spite of bad housing there are bad boys and girls come out of tenement districts and live to great heights as citizens. And his theory is that it is the broken home of a home in which there is something.

This theory while it is good in some cases does not always stand up because many sons and daughters are affected by such situations and other are not. In many cases, bad movies have been to blame, yet there are instances where one child out of several hundred duplicate a movie crime and the others do not.

Rehabilitation Program
 In Kansas City and Jackson County a program of rehabilitation and prevention is being carried on. It was discussed in investigating causes at the detention home that only six out of 100 boys who had gotten in trouble had attended church regularly. As a result, with the cooperation of the clergy of all faiths, children before the juvenile court have in many instances promised to attend church of their choice, regularly. As a result of this program the rate of recidivism has been reduced from approximately 17% to less than 2% in a period of three years. This is an indication that the system is working and that something is being accomplished.

The Salvation Army, because of the nature of its set up, has and will undertake this work in many cities, he said.

Harvest Field Air Conditioning

With temperatures in Kansas climbing toward the 100 mark, John Blackwell Pawnee county wheat farmer, edged this air conditioning device on his combine. A top an improved shade roof, Blackwell mounted a spiral saw blower fan which shoots fresh air down through a hole in the roof and around the combine's operation. The air itself off Kansas wheat fields, is hot but the intensity of the blast produces rapid evaporation and Blackwell says the effect is very cooling. It also keeps harvest chaff and dust from settling on the operator. The fan is driven by a belt connecting it to the combine's elevator sprocket. (AP Wirephoto)

Bill to Vote From Anywhere

JEFFERSON CITY, June 29—(AP)—A Missouri bill would let an absentee ballot from Alaska, Argentina, India or anywhere else, under a bill on the way to the governor's desk.

The house passed the measure 80 to 17 Tuesday after accepting changes.

But the measure traveled a rocky road. The first time it came up it was killed 75 to 33, giving the bill just three less than the 78 needed for house passage. An hour later it was reconsidered. Most of the negative votes came from the Republican minority.

The bill provides that if any person is to be out of his voting ward on election day he may apply for an absentee ballot. Provision is also made for persons who are sick.

Present law does not let sick persons vote or persons who are to be out of the state on election day.

The house adopted a senate amendment which would let a Christian Science practitioner sign a certificate of illness or disability as well as a doctor.

Washington Merry-go-Round)

WASHINGTON—President Truman discussed plans for forty-five million dollars against depression in a recent off-the-record talk with six Democratic senators and congressmen.

Only a meager announcement leaked out to the press, but he said he was planning to attack the economy in a program of economic expansion.

President Truman greeted the congressional group by saying: "I think I can say that of you on this."

Then he asked several questions of his late right-hand adviser, showing the latest national statistics on prices, wages, profits, and production up to the end of May.

He admitted that the first effects of expansion are being felt, but he said that the best place to attack the economy is to spread it. He stressed, however, that he is not worried about depression as long as each problem is met before it grows into a crisis.

Factory Loans

The legislators who called on the President were Senator James Murray of Montana, Robert Thomas of Utah, John Sparkman of Alabama, Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Congressman Andy Biemer of Wisconsin and Congressman Helen Gahagan Douglas of California, all Democrats.

At the top of the five-point economic expansion program they urged on Truman was promotion of private investment and production by offering EIA-type loans to build plants. Private enterprise, they agreed, is the key to a healthy economy. The legislators also recommended:

1. A national advisory board, combining the business, labor, agriculture and consumer committees that now exist separately.

2. Measures to deal directly with serious unemployment whenever and wherever it develops.

3. Long-range planning for public works and resource development.

4. Voluntary adjustments in purchasing power.

Truman said he couldn't endorse the program without studying the details, but remarked: "You are my kind of folks."

That kind of thinking, he added, had always endeared him to his own. It had been his belief and policy to ease off inflation controls gradually and give the economy a chance to adjust itself. But the GOP-controlled 80th congress scrapped all controls at once, let prices and profits soar unchecked, then, as a last straw, passed a "rich man's" tax bill. "That was no time for a rich man's tax bill when profits were at their highest," Truman shook his head.

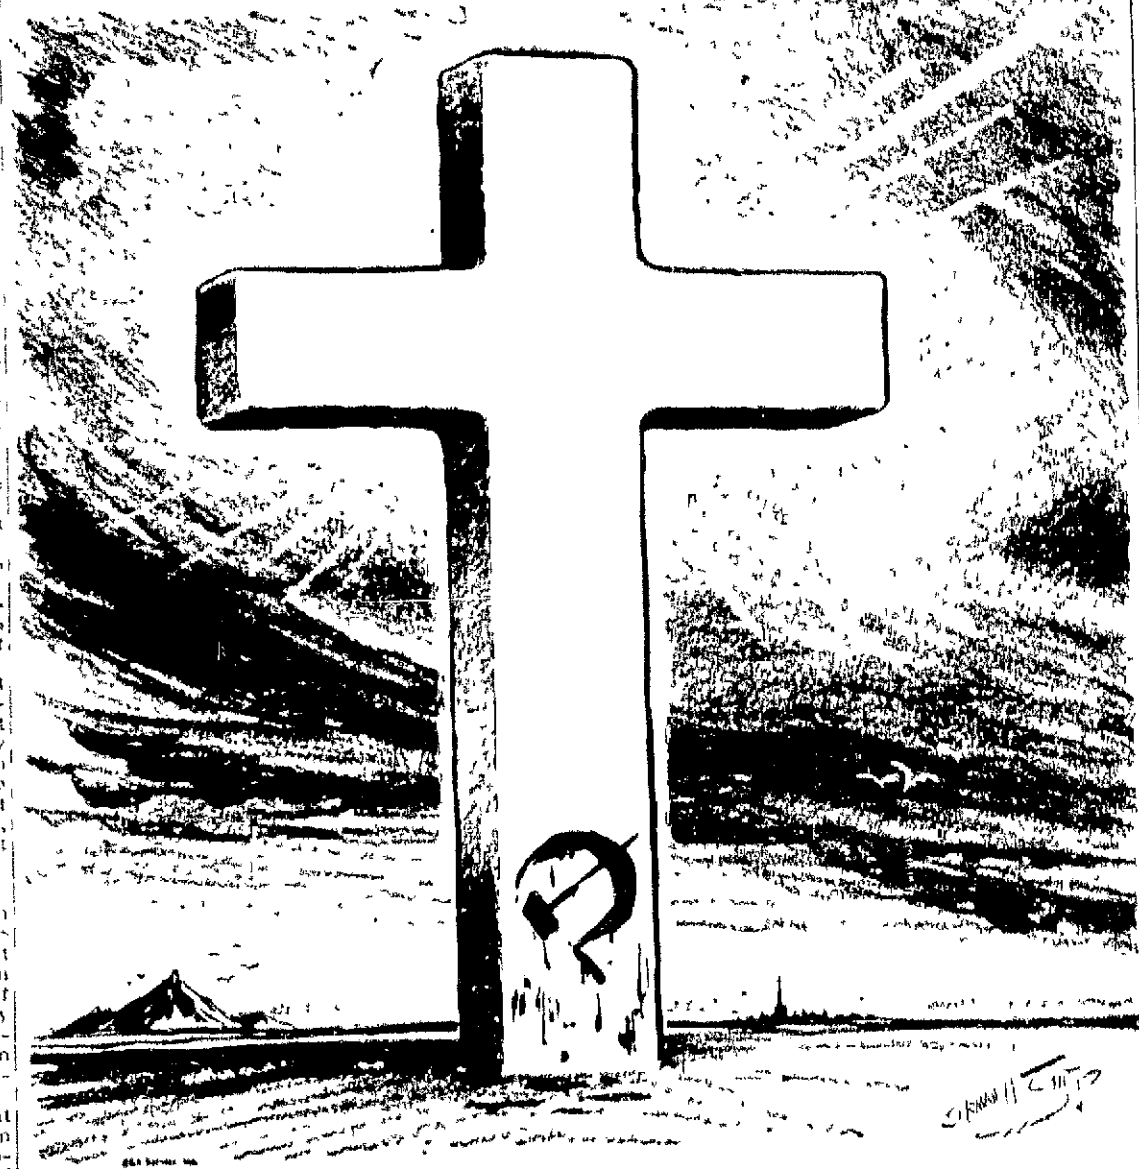

The inevitable result was "economic dislocation," the President declared. From such dizzy heights it would only be natural for prices, profits, wages and production to come crashing down. Therefore he said, the government must throw roadblocks in the way to prevent stampeding the economy into depression. If the public doesn't get panicky, Truman added, there is no danger of depression.

Disincorporate Postmasters
South Carolina's wily Senator Olin Johnston reversed the tables on President Truman the other day, and applied some sly counter-pressure to get postmasters appointed in his state.

He has no secret that the President has been holding up appointments to punish southern senators and congressmen who have opposed his program. But what the White House didn't take into account is that Johnston happens to be chairman of the Senate post-office committee, which must pass all postmaster appointments.

So the South Carolina added up to Senator Howard McGrath, Democratic national chairman, and later to Senate Secretary Lee Biddle, the President's close friend. Drawing exactly Johnston let it be known that he was disturbed over not getting postmasters for South Carolina and hinted that maybe he would just block all appointments until those for his own state come through.

Johnston allowed time for his remarks to pass on to the White House, then called for an appointment. When he was heard into the President's office, he talked about other matters. Then he mentioned casually that he had a lot of postmasters have been appointed lately, but my state hasn't gotten any. This is creating a little talk.

Wouldn't the President please he asked look into the matter? Striking a note on his pad, Truman replied: "Yes, well, I intend to do that right away."

A group of Iowa editors held a private confab between meetings of the Des Moines Democratic forum meeting. They agreed Senator Hickenlooper is making a real impression among the home folks because of his attacks on attacks upon atomic energy (chief David Johnston). General Hickenlooper's change of opinion to federal aid to education is attributed to the influence of his good friend Tom Watson of International Business Machines. His opposition has also convinced a lot of educators that the General was right when he once indicated that he knows a lot more about war than the peace-time needs of the nation.

Secretary of state Acheson and Undersecretary Webb are shopping around for summer cottages, not far from the spot where the Wright Brothers flew their first airplane at Kitty Hawk, N.C. Veterans of Foreign Wars chiefs are going to be plenty merry at President Truman if he doesn't attend their annual convention in Miami in late August.

One important point that didn't leak out of Secretary Acheson's hush hush report to the Senate foreign relations committee was regarding his smooth relation between the western powers.

Acheson reported that the Hill and French were more reasonable over the question of German economic and political rehabilitation than they ever before. Further the French had been adamant against building up Germany, but at Paris, both Britain and France seemed more worried about Germany as was Germany.

Cab Driver Helps To Save a Life

RICHMOND, Mo., June 29—(AP)—An anonymous Kansas City cab driver was credited Tuesday with saving the life of 10-year-old Freddie Greig of Victor.

The youth the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Greig, was bitten on the left foot by a poisonous snake.

The foot was badly swollen and turning black when Dr. A. F. Barnett of Paris called the Woodland hospital here. There was no serum available here, but Woodland authorities called Moxi, a where some was located at a drug store.

A Kansas cab driver rushed the youth to Paris and two hours after Dr. Barnett had placed the call the serum was in his hands.

The youth was removed time to time in the excitement that it did not die.

The evening was spent playing cards and dancing.

Miss Cloeta Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Howard of Nelson, and Mr. Harrison Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Simmons, were married at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Merrell Smith, pastor of the Methodist church, read the double ring ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown with fitted bodice, long, tapering sleeves, and skirt that flared into an aisle-wide train. Her finger-tips were held from a hair of white rose buds, and she carried a bouquet of white lilies tied with white satin ribbon.

The bridesmaid, Miss Gladys McCoy, wore a blue floor-length dress and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas tied with a white ribbon. William Alfred Perkins carried the rings on a white satin pillow, and was accompanied by Lorenz Randolph, who wore a white formal. Barbara Howard and Lucie Jones carried the train of the gown, and were attired in pink and blue formal.

William Simmons, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man.

After the wedding a reception was held, during which the couple received and opened many gifts. A large number of relatives and friends attended.

Over 1000 Saw Art Museum at Courthouse

Over 1,000 people, locally and from out of state viewed the three weeks art showing of 150 local paintings, $50,000 Art Loan Exhibit, Merrell Smith, director of the Lullin American art gallery, and the art of the Lullin American art gallery, under the auspices of the Pettis County Historical Society.

Today, workers were dismantling the exhibit. Local paintings will be returned to owners, and all other loans will be sent to their respective places for continued exhibits in other towns and cities.

Many comment forms were filled out by art visitors, and nearly all stressed that they would like a similar exhibit to be held in Sedalia next year. In answer to this, officers of the Historical Society indicated their hope to repeat an art exhibit next year with a new line of displays.

Many Assisted—One hundred twenty-five women assisted as hostesses and 45 men as hosts during the three week showing, that started June 6 and ended June 26.

Friday night, slides of Colonial life in Lullin America were shown with Irwin Haut, acting as the narrator. This was free to the public, as was the entire showing of the three weeks.

Boys' Choral In Rehearsal

The Queen City Boy's Choral will continue its rehearsal this summer at Pursh Hall, Broadway and Ohio avenue, each Thursday, promptly at 7:00 p.m. The group will be directed by Mrs. Percy McAdiff and accompanied by Miss William Fox.

Mrs. McAdiff is a well known voice teacher of Sedalia and a capable conductor and choir director with many years of musical experience. Miss Fox is accompanist for many local musical groups and is also a teacher of piano.

The boy sopranos, who were originally chosen to be used as an antiphonal choir for the Kansas City appearance of the group, are the charter members of the Boys' Choral. Membership is open to sopranos and altos between the ages of 10 and 14 if the voices are changing. The group is non-sectarian.

Boys desiring membership may contact Mrs. A. E. Jackson, phone 4086, who is business manager for the Queen City Adult Choral. Charter members of the Boys' Choral are: Billy Joe Trammot, Bobby Crouch, Albert Fox, James Merrell, Jimmy Satterwhite, Robert Haff, Dickie Shoemaker, Donald Hoffmann and Wendell McKee.

This group appeared last week in concert at Swine Park in Kansas City under direction of Dr. Delbert E. Johnson, who was the original organizer and conductor of the group.

Now is the Time to Start Looking for Bargains

By Kader Winger
NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—If you want to buy something, now is the time to start looking for bargains.

That's the word going the rounds in the retail trade. And the retailers themselves are making a new appraisal of their policies of buying from manufacturers.

It's a developing phase of the post-war buyers' market that is presenting a variety of goods with higher quality and lower prices than at any time since the days when you were offered black market butter.

Bargains don't mean cheap goods in the sense of getting more for your money. And it doesn't mean that everything is down in price and up in quality to the level that you might consider "right."

But more consumers' goods are at this "right" level than at any time in years. And in many cases, others plan to bring more goods into that category as fast as they can get them on the shelves.

With Some Luck
There is still plenty of "hook" in the market. And some prices are still so high that you can't find them anywhere else. But the retailers are actively aware of that. They don't live it up.

In other words, we've gone through a seller's market and into the beginning of a buyer's market. Now we are approaching a situation that hasn't been seen for so long that it has become strange—a normal buyers' market.

The overall picture shows that right after the war consumers bought everything they could lay their hands on at any price. Retailers gave it to them and made manufacturers' wheels hum at capacity rates.

The consumer got his fill eventually. Retailers found inventories backing up, and manufacturers' stocks piled up in warehouses. That's when business slowed down.

Expenses Went Up
At the same time department store expenses went up. Last year they increased to the point where gross profits were squeezed to the smallest percentage since 1910, even though sales were almost triple pre-war 1919. This year it looks as though profits may be forced down still further.

When retailers contracted their buying, the usual thing was to place initial orders and then sit back to see what lines the public wanted most. Then they put in a quick re-order for the fast moving items.

That's sound business practice of course, but just lately there's a catch in it that provides a pretty big straw in the trade winds.

Side Glances

By Galbraith

"I meet so many boys in summer I don't have time to write about them in my diary—if I'm in love I won't realize it till fall!"

Some manufacturers have cut down their own production and they haven't got the goods to sell when the demand is high. If they can't make up the order in time to meet the consumer's demand, the retailer loses the business.

"Hold You So"
When that happens the manufacturer adopts an attitude of "hold you so" to place their orders early and often. In the meantime, the manufacturer's sales, rather than lose sales when you haven't got the goods.

At the moment, hold-to-meet buying by retailers is still the rule. But the rule is softening. Consumers' complaints are mounting that they can't get the style, size, type, quality or price that they want without shopping around through the stores. Shopkeepers don't like to see must-haves walk out saying "I think I'll shop around a while." They are the store building up their stocks carefully. Retailers understand they don't want to be caught with a high-priced inventory. They want to hold off and get the lowest possible prices. So do their customers.

Pushing Off Lines
Furthermore, in order to please customers, stores are pushing off their pre-war services along a number of lines. Retailers' associations are working earnestly on employee education and training. Many stores don't hire the first person who walks in the door. They give them tests and pick the best. Then they train them to actually sell merchandise. Crowding and sneering at customers is frowned on severely.

Retail operation costs are being pushed to the bone. Here are a few methods: consolidation of buying departments, night-time movement of goods from warehouse to store, elimination of unproductive sales persons, reduction of losses from breakage and theft, reductions on delivery of small or low priced goods, and on down to turning out lights not needed.

Much of this is another huge field for retailers to exploit. Retail economists used no cartilage of such capital expenditures. Less expensive window displays with greater sales appeal also are being used.

Another sign of a return to normal is the growing trade association cry against taxes and against what they call restrictions placed by government on business. They are against consumer credit controls and against competition from Army PX's and Navy ship stores.

All of that activity is aimed at the ultimate consumer bargains in lower prices and higher quality.

Will it pay off? Will retailers give consumers what they want? Will the consumer buy? Will profits turn up?

There is the answer worked out for us by one Wall Street brokerage house. "We feel that it will not pay only for holder's profit to begin accumulation of high quality textile and retail business."

Salt Lake Rises Again
SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The Great Salt Lake, shallowest of the prehistoric Lake Bonneville, is rising slowly again. The lake, 30 miles of coastline and is fed by many mountain rivers and creeks. After dry periods of several years, evaporation of the highly saline water occurs at a rapid rate, and the lake level falls. Recently, it is about five feet higher than its all-time record low reached in 1939. Its highest known level came in 1910.

Thailand Fights Illiteracy
BANGKOK (AP)—The Ministry of Education has presented its long-term plan aimed at eliminating illiteracy in Thailand within the next ten years.

The Ministry's report noted that it is spending $100,000 this year on its literacy program and has increased the number of schools for work with adults from 197 to 652.

Accord on Big Money Bills

Education and Public Schools
Funds Slashed

JEFFERSON CITY, June 20.—A budget-minded house and senate conference committee reached agreement on two big money bills Tuesday.

The group reached compromise on a bill to cut the state's two big bills reported July 1. On one side, funds for the state of education and public schools, the house figure of $19,000,000 was cut $2,000,000 by the conference group. The senate previously had cut its amount $5,000,000.

In this bill one-third of the general revenue automatically is set for public schools. This estimate at nearly $20,000,000.

Some for legislation.

Also tied to this bill is a bill to cut the state's two big money bills.

Johnson Asks More Power

Says He Could Save More Than
Billion a Year

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—Secretary of the Interior, John S. Gathright, today asked for more power to save the government more than a billion dollars a year if he is given it.

In his first annual report to the house, Gathright said he would like to have the power to control the federal lands, which he said would save the government more than a billion dollars a year.

The bill, which would give the secretary of the interior the power to control the federal lands, was introduced by Gathright in the house today.

Tip about that trip..

For fun-on-the-run, as you've already discovered, there's no travel mate like that Buick of yours—especially if it's really in the pink.

So while you're readying yourself for vacation tours, how about doing the same for your car—with a little of that special Buick care that does so much to make trips top-notch? For instance—

Got plenty of pep? Our engine tune up is just the ticket to bring back flashing, new car liveliness on hills and straight-aways.

Can you "stop on a dime"? The answer's yes—when our experts get through tuning up worn drums, mounting new linings, or replacing old worn ones.

How's your view? It'll be good, night and day, when you let our experts check your lights, windshield wipers, and windows.

Want a good steer? That's just what you've got, after our front end experts get through adjusting your steering mechanism to give it new car liveliness.

Chassis sassy?

Does it ride roughly—squeak and squeak at you?

Drive in—we'll "shoot the works" with our grease guns and cleaners to take the noise and stiffness out of your ride—give you easier steering.

And a Buick trained mechanic will give you a conscientious trouble preventing inspection as well—without charge!

In short, start your trip in our shop and you'll find it free of car worries all the way. Drop in—see our facilities—talk to our experts and see for yourself it's the best insurance of a good time that you can buy.

Businesses Are Braced Against Some Rough Sailing

Feature Note How deep is the production higher and the hot business season in the United States? It is a question that has been asked by the public at large since the first sign of a recession in the fall of 1929. The answer is that the business season is not as bright as it once was, but it is not as dark as it once was. The business season is in a state of transition, and it is not yet clear what the future holds.

There Is a Time to Cut Hay
DAVIS, Calif.—(AP)—The best time for cutting hay is now, says a report from the University of California. The report says that the hay should be cut when the grain is in the soft dough stage.

Johnny's Revenge
CINCINNATI.—(AP)—The two clubs which fell victim to Johnny Vander Meer's two successive no-hit games in 1938 both owned his contract before Cincinnati acquired him. The Brooklyn Dodgers lost him through a front office oversight when he was just breaking in and the Boston Braves sold his contract to Nashville in 1936.

Landlords Not Taking Full Allowances

Many landlords filing petitions for rent increases under the new "fair net operating income" provision of the federal rent law are not taking full advantage of the new allowances and the schedule of allowances for 1944. Experts allow a landlord expenses for repairs, replacements, Elmer E. Sterling, federal rent examiner for Sedalia said this week.

"Since the printing of the fair net petition form there has been some confusion as to the regulations governing allowances and the schedule of allowances for 1944," Sterling pointed out. "In cases where an expenditure is of such a nature that its life is more than one year, the landlord may charge a certain percentage of the cost of the expenditure to the test year, provided the life of the item has not yet run out. For example, if a landlord put a new roof on the house within the past 15 years, he could allocate one-fifteenth of its cost to the test year, because a roof is figured to last at least 15 years. Similarly, he said, since outside painting is estimated to last four years, if a landlord painted the outside of the building within the last four years, he may use one-fourth of the cost of the painting as an allowable expense for the test year.

Heating Plant Case
"In the case of a heating plant," Sterling added, "one-twentieth of the cost of the heating plant will be considered an expense charge-able to the test year, provided the test year is still within the 20-year period."

A landlord of a building containing four or fewer dwelling units can qualify for an increase in rent under the "fair net operating income" provision if it is found that after paying the expenses of operating the property for a one year test period he has a balance of less than 25 per cent of the year's gross income. In that case, he would be entitled to an increase in rent that would bring his net income up to 30 per cent of his gross.

In the case of a building containing five or more dwelling units, the landlord is entitled to have an increase in rent if, after paying his operating expenses, the amount of annual income left is less than 20 per cent of the gross income.

In such cases, the landlord would receive an increase which would leave him 25 per cent of the annual income from the building, after paying operating expenses.
